

Children's Mercy Kansas City / University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Medicine has just approved a search to recruit another psychologist with expertise in Autism Spectrum Disorders and associated developmental disabilities to join our team.

The primary focus of the position will be delivery of autism/developmental diagnostic evaluations, with the option to provide additional clinical service based on the candidate's expertise and interests (e.g., delivery of evidence-based intervention). We have strong psychology and medical training programs, a robust community outreach program, and multiple lines of research that new faculty could support or compliment through their own work. Children's Mercy is also developing a comprehensive Mental Health Strategic Plan with multiple autism initiatives under serious consideration. We enjoy strong philanthropic support and are excited to continue expanding our team.

For more information or to ensure you receive the formal announcement when it is released, contact Cy Nadler (cnadler@cmh.edu).